Mentorship Programme

LUNDS UNIVERSITY | MSC IN ENTREPRENEURSHIP AND INNOVATION

The Mentorship Programme

The purpose of the Mentorship Programme at Sten K. Johnson Centre for Entrepreneurship is to match engaged practitioners who have experience in the entrepreneurial development process with students from the Master's Programme in Entrepreneurship and Innovation.

The aim of the Mentorship Programme is to give the students "real-life insight" in the life as an entrepreneur and a valuable connection for the future. The student and mentor share experiences related to the entrepreneurial process in personal meetings to make the student better prepared for their entrepreneurial journey. The focus is on the individual student and their personal development.

Mentors are volunteers and get no compensation for their time, and the students are aware of the mentors' need to prioritize their everyday work. There should be no financial transactions and agreements between mentors and their mentee during the master's programme. Confidentiality applies to the mentor towards the mentee and their company.

WHAT'S IN IT FOR YOU?

As a mentor, you will get an introduction to what mentorship means, and get to learn more about the differences between coaching and mentoring. You will receive support from Sten K. Johnson Centre of Entrepreneurship throughout the process and will get to develop your intercultural competence.

WHAT YOU GET

- Connection with engaged students attending a cutting-edge education in entrepreneurship
- Insight in interesting business projects
- Be a part of a highly engaged international community of practitioners within the field of entrepreneurship
- A selection of events and seminars at Sten K. Johnson Centre for Entrepreneurship

WHAT WE EXPECT FROM YOU

- Interest and knowledge in the business development process
- Engagement and interest in the students' personal development in relation to entrepreneurship as well as in the progress of their business project
- To be available for a personal meeting with the student once a month during the Mentorship Programme

"I'm a mentor because I love being able to support others through their personal growth and development. I love the process of learning whether it's me learning or someone else. I'm fascinated by the range of conflicting thoughts and feelings people experience during the learning process."

Mentor 2019-2020

The Master's Programme in Entrepreneurship and Innovation

The Master's Programme in Entrepreneurship and Innovation offered at Lund University School of Economics and Management is targeting students interested in pursuing an international career as entrepreneurs. The students come from different academic backgrounds from all over the world.

The aim of the master's programme is to develop students' entrepreneurial skills, knowledge and insights in order to be able to start up and run their own business after graduation. The programme offer students the opportunity to be fully involved in the complete start-up process, from idea generation and team composition to venture formation. This give them a unique hands-on experience in starting up a new business.

Through our Mentorship Programme the students are matched with a mentor to establish a relationship that harbors both learning experiences and challenging of one's ideas. The mentors follow their mantee during the entrepreneurial process and assist in their development by serving as role models, coaches and advisors.

The timeline below illustrates the activities throughout the Master's Programme where the mentors are involved one way or the other.

Bronze: activities focused on the mentor/mentee.

Grey: activities within the course curriculum. Mentors give feedback to the students and share their view of the students' work.

Become a mentor!

We are looking forward to collaborating with you!
